MALAMALA

MalaMala Game Reserve is the safari industry's blueprint to the luxury photographic safari. This enormous tract of land offers unparalleled wildlife viewing. MalaMala is the only game reserve in this region where the benefits of tourism directly support adjacent communities.

"Not even Tanzania's famed Serengeti Game Reserve or the awesome Ngorongoro Crater fills your camera viewfinder faster with Africa's legendary Big Five – at MalaMala, lion, leopard, buffalo, rhinoceros and elephant appear magically," says acclaimed wildlife photojournalist Geoff Dalglish in his Sunday Times review. "Nor could Hollywood script the wide-screen wildlife encounters any more dramatically or frequently than nature does routinely in the private game reserve that is arguably South Africa's most famous internationally."

The unfenced eastern boundary with the Kruger National Park allows wildlife to move freely onto MalaMala and many of the territorial animals such as leopard, lion and rhino will have a territory overlapping a portion of both reserves. MalaMala's river frontage running north to south is the lifeblood of the reserve, especially in the dry winter months. It is also an important boundary between the areas of human habitation on the western bank of the river and the pristine wilderness area of MalaMala on the eastern side between the river and the Kruger National Park.

When animals move it is often due to water. Wildlife moves from the 4 million acres east of the Sand River, through MalaMala to the river and back again resulting in two way traffic across the reserve where we conduct our safaris. The land of the Eastern side has no access roads, electricity pylons, telephone poles and cables etc. There is no human habitation between the Sand River and the Kruger National park boundary so for approximately 16 hours a day, this area is left to the wildlife.

There is no time limit on sightings which is an ideal scenario for photographers – no 'queue to view' as this enormous tract of land has a low density of vehicles traversing the area.

MalaMala Camp is a haven of understated luxury combining warm comfort and superb service with unrivalled views of the Sand River and surrounding bushveld. It is truly a place of legends where rare photographs, old maps and extraordinary mementos rub shoulders with the works of renowned contemporary wildlife artists. The camp is an unfenced oasis in the middle of the bush.

Dinner is another highlight of the MalaMala experience and is served around a log-fire in the grand old African manner, under star-punctured skies and in a reed boma - a MalaMala tradition for over 60 years. The delectable dinner fare features a smorgasbord of bush cuisine, including venison specialties and outstanding South African wines.

JABULANI

Jabulani is located within a private reserve in the Limpopo Province which enjoys panoramic views of the nearby Drakensberg mountain range, and is only 40 km from the Kruger National Park. It is also central to some of the most magnificent scenic areas of both the Mpumalanga and Limpopo Provinces.

The reserve offers excellent big-five game viewing experience opportunities and cheetah and wild dogs are often spotted on the reserve too. There a healthy population of plains game to enjoy too.

Jabulani represents the epitome of style, luxury, gastronomic excellence and warm hospitality, yet at the heart of this five-star premium experience lies a cause far greater than its tangible elements. Jabulani is dedicated to the care and sustainability of a unique herd of hand-reared elephants who were rescued from Zimbabwe in 2002.

Guests can discover more about the herd's remarkable journey together with their passionate carers, including the story of orphaned elephant Jabulani who was accepted into the herd, all the while knowing that by staying at Jabulani, they contribute to their wellbeing and safety.

The Jabulani Elephant experience provides guests with a unique opportunity to observe elephants from a respectable distance as they go about their days, often foraging in the wild or taking a mid-afternoon swim. The perfect way to truly get to understand just how exceptional these gentle giants are.

Together with excellent safari activities, including night drives and bush walks, guests have a wide variety of activities to spend their days, or they can take time out to relax at a pace suitable to their needs.
